

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electron beam lithography method includes extending the widths of a plurality of stripes which divide a region where an electron beam exposure is to be performed, so that the boundaries of the stripes overlap adjacent stripes at each boundary, and 5 sequentially exposing each of the stripes to an electron beam.